

22. - In Bologna, St. Thomas is led through the streets of the city by a visiting friar, whom the Prior has allowed to commandeer any friar in the convent to accompany him on his rounds. While an infirmity prevents him from walking, he does his best to help him and patiently endures his reprimands—to the amazement of the onlookers, who eventually reveal to the troublesome friar the identity of the famous theologian he is mistreating in this way.
